

Addiction Service Locations Mapped by Drug Overdoses per 100,000 People

All addiction service locations in Indiana are mapped below, they are the orange dots. Each service location, by default, has a white 10-mile buffer radius. Feel free to use the slider below to change the buffer radius.

Buffer Distance
10

Red counties have more drug overdoses per 100,000 people, while blue counties have fewer.

Per 100,000 People
78.0 534.2

There are a few locations, like Orange County, Starke County, and Pulaski County, that are in need of addiction services.